Deloitte. export success series

Going global from the web

Wellington is becoming a hub for web-based business, and one that is rapidly taking on the global market is PlanHQ. From their HQ in Courtenay Place, backed by successful entrepreneur turned Angel investor Rod Drury, PlanHQ is making an impact in the world of online business tools. Currently 70% of PlanHQ's customers are international, and the business is finding a niche in the USA.

Tim Norton and Natalie Ferguson will present as part of Export Wellington's celebration of our region's success.

Come along if:

- Your business is using the web as a channel to market
- Software, service or business support are part of your product mix
- You are a startup or early-stage business wondering how or why a business plan might be useful
- You want to be inspired by local entrepreneurship & Wellington networking in action
